

Christopher Columbus

And the Brave New World

Christopher Columbus

And the Brave New World

In the year 1492, a sailor named Christopher Columbus set out on a daring voyage across the ocean. Many people said the world was too wide, the sea too deep, and the journey too long. But Columbus believed he could find a shorter way to the lands of the East.

In the year 1492, a sailor named Christopher Columbus set out on a daring voyage across the ocean. Many people said the world was too wide, the sea too deep, and the journey too long. But Columbus believed he could find a shorter way to the lands of the East.

Columbus met with kings and queens to share his plan. He spoke with courage, even when others doubted him. Queen Isabella saw his determination and gave him ships and sailors for the journey.

Columbus met with kings and queens to share his plan. He spoke with courage, even when others doubted him. Queen Isabella saw his determination and gave him ships and sailors for the journey.

For weeks, the sailors saw nothing but water. Some grew afraid, but Columbus encouraged them to stay strong. Then one morning, a cry rang out— “Land!” The men cheered as they stepped onto a new shore.

For weeks, the sailors saw nothing but water. Some grew afraid, but Columbus encouraged them to stay strong. Then one morning, a cry rang out— “Land!” The men cheered as they stepped onto a new shore.

The Three Ships of Columbus

The Three Ships of Columbus

